List of Publications on Wood-Using Industries and Timber Marketing as Issued by Various States

The following list of publications deals with wood-using industries and the marketing of forest products in the various states as compiled by the Forest Products Laboratory. The first named publication under each state is the latest bulletin on either of the subjects. Earlier publications are included in order that the references may be complete. For many states these early publications are not available for distribution. They can be found, however, in many of the larger public libraries. Publications starred (*) are in that class. Publications double starred () can be had upon application to the U. S. Forest Service, Washington, D. C., if they are not available from original sources. Those not starred may be obtained from the sources shown.

Some of the publications listed deal exclusively with wood-using industries and marketing of forest products; others deal only in part with the above subjects; while still others contain only lists of consumers of various wood products. Investigations of wood-using industries or marketing of forest products have not been made by the states not listed, so far as is known.
